

DIESEL EXHAUST FLUID

Effective Date    January 11, 2013

Application

Clean Air Act (as amended in 1990) requires reduced emissions for medium and heavy-duty diesel engines manufactured in 2010 and after. Diesel Exhaust Fluid (DEF) is an additive for diesel engines that reduces emissions of nitrogen oxides.

- Selective Catalytic Reduction helps reduce emissions of nitrogen oxides. Diesel Exhaust Fluid is a key element in that process.
- As of Jan. 1, 2013 all new over-the-road diesel vehicles will use DEF.

New York State Division of Industries (Corcraft) is the only NYS supplier licensed by the American Petroleum Institute (API) to use the DEF Certification Seal. Corcraft has been designated the Preferred Source for DEF by the OGS Procurement Council in November, 2012.

275-gallon tote with Closed Dispensing System (CDS).

Manufacture, dispensing, and reuse of containers are handled according to ISO standards. Corcraft can equip 55 gallon drums, 265- and 330-gallon totes with Closed Dispensing Systems (CDS). A Closed Dispensing System consists of a special cap for drum or tote, and a valve assembly. Together they ensure the processes of filling and dispensing are isolated from contamination, which is critical to DEF performance and standards.

Containers and Deposits

Deposits are charged on each purchase as noted below. When the containers are returned, the customer is issued a credit. To receive the credit, the containers must be completely empty and bungs intact and secure. Containers returned in poor condition are subject to loss of deposit.
